HUGH RICHARDSON PHOTOGRAPHY

Five important questions to answer before you confirm your wedding photographer.

- Will the photographer you choose have a comprehensive understanding of fashion and people photography?

This factor is revealed in the quality of images you will review. Hugh Richardson has over 13 years experience in the fashion industry working with leading photographers and designers such as Giorgio Armani, Donna Karan and Ralph Lauren. Hugh has found by combining fashion photography with traditional event photography, his results are unique and unparalleled.

- Does the photographer you are considering have a “photo journalistic” style?

Although we utilize key elements of photo-journalism, our achievements transcend traditional wedding photography with a distinct fashion perspective. Each wedding story is individually customized to your expectations and will produce beautiful, romantic, images of your wedding day. As you see from our work, our pictures are created with candid reasoning and decisive planning. Anyone can take a picture, so be cautious of photos with no purpose!

- Will your photographer use a FILM or DIGITAL camera to capture your wedding photographs?

We have found the very best way to preserve your memories for a lifetime is by using traditional film. The reason wedding photographers sell you digital is to make more money. For centuries, film has been used for shooting wedding photos and we believe that film is the only way a wedding should be photographed. On the contrary, once we have the film, we then make high-resolution digital scans of the master photos included in your package choice. Simply stated, you have the best of both worlds. Hugh is a master of the digital workspace and we would never use digital just to save money. All of the images you see on our web site are from high-resolution digital scans from film negatives. Besides, CD's are not reliable and hard drives crash - why take the chance?

- Will you own the negatives to your wedding photos?

As our very special gift to you, HRP Weddings will provide you with the original negatives to your wedding photos. For a lifetime, you will have the ability to produce the highest quality reprints from the negatives you will own. When you own the negatives, there are no complicated, confusing print packages. You can print what you want, when you want!

- Do you feel comfortable having a stranger sharing in the most important moments of your marriage?

We believe every friendship begins the day we meet you. Please take a moment to visit some of our work at www.HRPWeddings.com and see what others are saying about their experience.
